The period from 1850 to 1950 was characterized by significant change and disruption, encompassing major historical events and artistic movements. This era saw the rise of the Industrial Revolution, Romanticism, and Realism, followed by movements such as Orientalism, Impressionism, and the Arts and Crafts movement. The century also witnessed major conflicts, including the United States Civil War, the Spanish-American War, and both World Wars. Key artistic and cultural shifts included the Gilded Age, the Russian Revolution, the Jazz Age, Art Nouveau, the Vienna Secession, Futurism, and Modernism, among others.
