"This collection features over 700 lots of period Americana, Folk Art, Chinese porcelain and British antiques, along with one of the finest collections of Kittinger and Colonial Williamsburg reproductions still in private hands. A collection like this is unique and rarely seen in its entirety." — Jim Stenella, auctioneer and expert on 18th-century period furniture and museum reproduction decor

ABOUT THE COLLECTION: George E. Harrison III, alongside his wife Linda, were celebrated for their meticulously curated collection of Americana. Their home was more than just a residence; it was a meticulously curated showroom of period pieces, akin to a museum, reflecting their deep passion and expertise. Their business, Americana Interiors, highlighted their extensive knowledge of Kittinger furniture and Williamsburg-style decor. George was renowned for his unique approach to engaging buyers, offering not only exceptional items but also an educational and immersive buying experience. The list of distinguished clients he worked with over the years is extensive.

Following George's passing in March 2024, and in honor of their beloved pets, the proceeds from this auction will benefit the SPCA and other animal charities. This auction presents a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to acquire significant period pieces, rare collectibles, and exclusive items from a distinguished collection, all without reserve.
